

Sam Tromp is a Dutch artist based in London, interested in structures, systems, human behavior and social interaction with our daily surroundings. His multidisciplinary practice consist of spatial interventions, performative installations and site specific happenings. Approaching his artistic practice as a manner of mirroring. Mirroring in the sense of a semi-fictionalization of reality, the separation between something that translates into an unknown third space and real life. Searching for a space where questions can arise and conversations can start.

Sam Tromp is currently enrolled at the Royal Academy Schools, a three-year postgraduate program in central London.
